

ANDERS HOLM NIELSEN

PERSONAL PROFILE

During my Master's program I have developed competences - both practical and theoretical - in digital media. Although I have recently graduated on paper, I have a large amount of hands-on experience with both videography, photography, graphic design and sound design from working in these fields. My experience includes the entire process from organization to post-production, which makes me a very versatile and flexible employee who can jump to wherever I am needed on the team. I am known for being serious about my work and for keeping my head cold under stressful situations. In addition, I am easy going, social, and thriving both as part of a team and as responsible for productions of various sizes.
